

Movement Launched for New Bridge Over Yough River in Connellsville

Conference With County Commissioners Arranged for Next Tuesday.

COST ESTIMATE $150,000

Bids Received by Commissioners for Repairs Indicate That Nearly Half That Sum Would Be Required; Present Structure Is Inadequate

Connellsville has launched a campaign to obtain the construction of a new bridge across the Youghiogheny river, which will take care of present traffic needs and supplant the present structure which, business men say, is now obsolete. A delegation representing city council, business interests and automobile clubs will go to Uniontown next Tuesday morning and lay before the county commissioners the request that no contract be awarded at this time for the extensive repairs which have been proposed for the present structure.

The Connellsville delegation will point out that a new reinforced concrete structure can be built for a sum not greatly in excess of that estimated for the repairs to the present bridge. They will call the commissioners' attention to the fact that the expenditure of $50,000 or more on the proposed repairs would be wasteful in that when finished, the bridge would be in no better shape to carry its heavy traffic than it now is.

The present Youghiogheny bridge is inadequate to handle the traffic which flows over it at the present time, and this traffic is increasing steadily. From a traffic standpoint alone the structure is a menace to the traveling public. The roadway being wide enough only for one street car track and a single-track roadway, forces trolley car that passed forces automobiles to turn out into the path of oncoming machines. That there have been no more accidents than have taken place can be attributed only to the fact that motorists, it is asserted, exercise unusual care in passing the bridge.

The commissioners will be urged to undertake the construction of a new bridge, one with a roadway wide enough to have the street car track in the middle, and space for vehicular traffic on either side; with sidewalks wide enough to take care of the heavy pedestrian travel which is probably heavier on this structure than on any other in the county.

At the conference last night between city council and the board of governors of the Youghiogheny Automobile club, it was decided to send a delegation to Uniontown to take up with the commissioners the matter of a new bridge. An appointment was made to meet the commissioners next Tuesday morning. In addition to members of council and the automobile club, representative business men will also be included.

It has been pointed out that if the present structure is repaired, such repairs would only replace from one-fourth to one-third of the bridge, leaving the remainder in such shape that expensive repairs would be required within the next few years. Connellsville delegation will contend that the construction of a new bridge would be an economy. It is estimated that a new bridge could be constructed at an approximate cost of $150,000.

Assistant City Solicitor J. Kirk Jenner brought the matter before the meeting last night with a view to having it given consideration. The proposition met with the unanimous approval of those present.

Bids received by the county commissioners for repairs to the bridge range from $46,400 to $84,400. The Harris Engineering company was the lowest bidder. Other bidders were the Penn Bridge company, $64,400; the Phil & Miller company, $65,000; and the Connellsville Iron Works, $80,785.66. Temporary supports—timbers 12x12 inches—are being placed under the bridge at the western edge of the viaducts & Ohio right of way.

Eleven Reported Killed When Train Hits Funeral Car

CHICAGO, Nov. 19.—Seven persons were killed instantly and a funeral home in which they were riding was demolished when a fast Santa Fe train crashed into the machine as it was crossing the tracks between Duwamish and Lyons this morning. Parts of the victims' bodies and fragments of the machine were strewn along the track for nearly a mile.

White Santa Fe officials reported that seven dead witnesses said they counted the bodies of 11 victims along the track.

Preaching at Adelaide.

Rev. C. W. Rockwell of Pittsburg will preach at the Methodist Episcopal church at Adelaide Sunday at 10:30 o'clock, and at Hickory Bottom school house at 7:30 o'clock.

Hillcrest Mine Fire Has Broken Through Opening

The mine fire along the Mount Pleasant road north of the city developed a new phase this morning when flames broke through the overlying strata and shot 10 or 15 feet into the air at a point between the street car track and the highway.

The outbreak followed making a cut through the mine opening of which W. E. Baldwin the opening of which is in the vicinity of the section which caved in several years ago.

The advance of the "mucking," which has been done where the coal has been removed in an effort to check the fire, had created considerable compression on the fire and forced the flames through an opening in the surface. Combustion of the old mine timbers, and an outlet to the air gave the fire more strength causing the flames to shoot through the opening.

A test recently made where the excavation was made some weeks ago by the steam shovel shows the fire to have been completely extinguished at that point, thus disproving the assertions of officials of the State Highway Department that it could not be done.

A large crowd of people was drawn to the scene of the fire shortly after it broke through to the open air this morning.

Use of Standard Sized Christmas Cards Is Urged

Acting Postmaster R. W. McCormick requests patrons to refrain from using under size postal cards and envelopes during the Christmas season this year. He expressed a hope that stationers would not stock up with such goods as the cancelling of the mail is made more slow and entails considerable loss of time at a period when every moment is precious.

The small sized envelopes cause additional work because they have to be sorted out and then hand stamped. Two special clerks were required to do this last year. If envelopes were of standard size, it is pointed out, they could easily be run through the cancelling machine and the work of getting the mail out would be expedited.

Stylized forms of handwriting at this season, which is often practiced at Christmas time, is also a hindrance to postal employees and the public is asked to make all addresses plain.

German Officer; War Murderer, Makes Escape

HAMBURG, Nov. 19.—Former Lieutenant Commander John M. Boldt, who, with Lieutenant Dittman, was convicted of manslaughter for firing on the life boats of the Canadian hospital ship, the St. Louis, after the vessel had been torpedoed in 1918, has escaped from prison here.

Boldt was found guilty at Leipzig last July and sentenced to four years imprisonment.

Strawberries Continue to Ripen. DUNBAR, Nov. 19.—More ripe strawberries were gathered in J. L. Ketter's garden November 17, but these were not exposed to the cold. These out from the foliage were bitten slightly by the frost, but all having leaf protection are still blooming and ripening.

Confirmed as Postmaster. Among the nominations for postmaster confirmed by the Senate yesterday was Carl B. Troy of West Brownsville.

Gone to Sanitarium. Charles Boyd of Traylor avenue has gone to Parkview sanitarium, Kansas City, Mo., for treatment.

MINISTERS ARE ASKED TO AID ROLL CALL PLAN

Three Requests Made by Chairman in Connection With Sunday Service.

FINISH WORK TOMORROW

In calling attention to the second Red Cross roll call drive Sunday afternoon in Connellsville, Chairman J. Fred Kurtz made the following three requests:

First—That during the morning service Sunday every minister in the city ask members of teams to report at the Y. M. C. A. promptly at 1:30 o'clock.

Second—That all persons who have subscribed on paid be requested to display in their windows the Red Cross flags so that the canvassers may not be put to the inconvenience of again visiting them.

Third—That the ministers urge all who have not already done so to subscribe to the roll call fund.

Declaring that the needs of the Red Cross have been fully explained, Mr. Kurtz said it now rests with the people to determine whether the work shall be carried on or whether there must be retrenchment in quarters and abandonment of the work planned in others, either of which would work hardship on those in need.

Dr. Crafts to Speak Sunday in Local Churches

Dr. Wilbur F. Crafts, veteran traveler, author and lecturer, just returned from a tour of more than half of the United States, and tireless worker for half a century for better social conditions, will spend Sunday in Connellsville, delivering a number of addresses. He will speak at the United Presbyterian church at 9:45 o'clock at the Methodist Episcopal church at 10:30, at the First Presbyterian church at 11, at the United Brethren church at 4:30 and at the Christian church at 7:30.

"The New American That Is to Be" will be the theme of Dr. Crafts at the Presbyterian church at the 11 o'clock service and "Battles Won and Battles Lost in the State and Nation" at the Christian church in the evening.

At 3 o'clock Dr. Crafts will address a mass meeting in the United Brethren church at Scoutdale.

Cooties Initiate Four, Have 26 on The Waiting List

The Veterans of Foreign Wars held an autumnal meeting in the post rooms last evening, 66 members being present. An interesting feature of the occasion was the initiation of four new members into the Order of Cooties. Twoed Stanford and charge of the affair. Everyone present enjoyed this side issue immensely. Comrade Stanford has 25 applications, which will be balloted on at the next meeting.

The house committee was authorized to get pool tables, and other features for amusement. A basketball team will be organized at the next meeting. Mr. J. Welch, commander, gave an interesting talk on loyalty and patriotism.

After the meeting lunch was served.

RAIL SHOP RULES

Will Probably be Issued and Made Effective by December 1.

CHICAGO, Nov. 19.—The United States Railroad Labor Board announced last night that new working rules for the six shop crafts probably will be completed and issued in time to become effective December 1.

FINAL DRIVE IN ROLL CALL TO BE SUNDAY

Intensive Campaign Will Be Made to Wind Up Canvass for Funds.

SOME DISTRICTS LAGGING

Tomorrow will be another Red Cross Sunday in Fayette county. Intensive, whirlwind campaigns in an effort to clean up the roll call solicitation will be carried on in several sections of the county and in others the solicitation will go along with added effort.

It is the object of the roll call headquarters and of the various district chairmen to have every worker in the county on the job tomorrow; to present the appeal of the Red Cross to thousands of homes as yet not visited by the canvassers; and to enroll the largest list of members ever enrolled in the Red Cross in a single day in Fayette county.

Homes at which solicitors have called and where no one was at home—or in the very few instances where the first appeal was rejected—will be visited again as far as possible.

Roll Call Director Earl S. Arctford, in a statement yesterday, stated succinctly the purpose and attitude of the workers in the roll call:

"The roll call campaign must go over the top. There can be no failure. There must be no failure for never was the work of the Red Cross more vitally needed in our own country than right now."

Intensive efforts will be concentrated in Sunday campaigns in Connellsville, Uniontown, Brownsville, Jefferson and Washington townships, Mount Union, Fayette City and Perryopolis. German township workers will make special efforts during the day.

Chairman E. K. Platt notified headquarters yesterday that he expected the enrollment in the township to exceed 1,600.

The campaign in Fayette City and Washington and Jefferson townships will be conducted especially vigorously, according to Chairman Guy Brown's report to headquarters yesterday.

The workers are all ready and, while they have been busy during the week in some sections, they will be out tomorrow to cover every section of the district.

B. S. Luce Jr. of Perryopolis has made detailed arrangements for the solicitation in his district tomorrow.

Connellsville and Uniontown workers will engage in the keenest kind of rivalry in the solicitation tomorrow. Connellsville workers, under the direction of J. Fred Kurtz, who is also chairman of the Fayette county chapter, made a decisive campaign last Sunday and jumped into a substantial lead over the Uniontown organization which has been conducting its campaign quietly.

Uniontown workers, however, declare that Connellsville will not outdo the county and that the first reports submitted here do not contain some interesting surprises which the workers have up their sleeves. However, Chairman Kurtz, at Connellsville, counters with the same assertion.

It is hoped to see the situation in it now a problem of the workers going every person in their respective districts of enrolling them in the Fayette county chapter.

The concentrated campaign tomorrow will not close the canvass in the county.

21 BELOW ZERO, CANADA REPORTS

CALGARY, Alberta, Nov. 19.—For the first time this season bitter cold has descended, the temperature standing at 21 degrees below zero here last night.

COLD WAVE COMING

EYES OF ARMS CONFERENCE ARE TURNED TO JAPAN

Mikado's Delegates Expected to Show Cards in Far East Situation.

MAY FIGHT NAVAL PLAN

By Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 19.—The precise attitude of Japan is becoming more and more the big interrogation point of the arms conference.

When the delegates of the nine nations assembled today to talk about the Far East it was Japan to whom they looked for the hint that would reveal just what trend is to be taken by the negotiations as they affect China.

In the same way and perhaps with an interest more intense the naval experts of the powers were pondering Japan's request for an increase in her proportionate naval strength and were wondering whether she would raise a direct issue with the United States by proposing material changes in the ratio fixed in the American plan.

Interchange with Tokyo during the two-day recess were said to have provided the Japanese delegation with comprehensive information as to the attitude of their government but there was no authoritative prediction as to how far that attitude would revolve at the present stage of the negotiations.

Some of the Japanese delegates seemed to feel it would be better to develop their policy point by point. All the other groups were ready to make general declaration of their position but among all there was a position a feeling that since China had presented a detailed "bill of rights" the next word belonged to Japan because she was the nation most interested.

Pope Benedict Gives Blessing To Arms Parley

WASHINGTON, Nov. 19.—Pope Benedict in a telegram to President Harding has expressed the hope that Almighty God may "grant a happy issue to the initiative taken by the Chief Magistrate of the great American republic to tranquillize the trepidation of humanity."

The message of the Pope, together with communications from a dozen other officials of various governments, received by President Harding in connection with the assembling of the conference, were made public today at the State Department. Replies to some of the messages also were made public and it was said that fitting replies were being prepared to others, including the communication from the Vatican.

Basketball Meeting on Monday Night

A meeting of representatives of teams entered in the proposed basketball league which was to have been held at the Baltimore & Ohio Y. M. C. A. last night was postponed until Monday night at 7:30 o'clock at which time a schedule will be drawn up and other details worked out. It is proposed to open the season November 23.

There was a gathering of members of the teams Thursday night at the "Y" at which time Edward W. Wai of Scottsdale explained the rules for the 1922-23 season. The Baltimore & Ohio Y. M. C. A. and the Fayette Baking team played an exhibition game, the former winning, 17-14.

An Idealistic Spirit Has Been Revived at Capital By Disarmament Parley

FATE OF WORLD PEACE HELD TO BE UP TO WOMEN

Upon the women of the world depends the fate of world peace, George L. King of Middletown, Dauphin county, traveler and lecturer, substantiated an audience at Trinity Lutheran church Thursday evening while speaking on "Russia and the Late War." Man still has the fighting spirit, inherited from his ancestors. Therefore on woman must fall the task of instilling the Christian ideal in the rising generation. While improving the arms conference in Washington, Mr. King indicated his belief that this will not solve the problem. The children must be made to love peace in the same way that the Germans were trained to believe that the German nation was destined to over power the rest of the world, he said.

Speaking of the revolution in Russia and the criticism to which it has been subjected by the remainder of the world, Mr. King declared that in justice to that nation it must be remembered that the same attitude was adopted toward the American colonies when they rose against England and with regard to the French revolution. He also called attention to similarity of conditions in France during the revolution and in Russia under the Bolsheviks. He did not endorse the behavior of the government.

Mr. King, who is a friend of Rev. Dr. William H. Heitrick, pastor of the Lutheran church, spoke under the auspices of the Men's and Women's Bible classes. The affair was one of the monthly gatherings arranged by the classes, at some of which speakers appear.

Hubby and Wife
Scrap, She Gives
Away Still Secret

A disagreement between John M. Williams of Romeco and his wife, Hazel, has resulted in the arrest of the former. Williams is charged with the charge of manufacturing liquor without a license. Williams has been released on $1,500 bail.

Williams, said to be a wealthy coal operator, left his wife on Wednesday. It is alleged, Mrs. Williams made an information before Mr. Lipscomb, a charging of the same nature. She also volunteered the information that he and Lipscomb were operating two stills at Romeco. The same afternoon Constable Walter Brown, who had the warrant for the man's arrest, saw him drive across Main street, Uniontown, in the direction of Connellsville.

Securing a taxicab, the constable made the trip to Connellsville in 22 minutes but Williams had turned off on the Vanderbilt road and eluded him. Yesterday the officer heard Williams was in Vanderbilt.

Going to that place he saw the automobile of the man standing outside but was told he was not in the house. When the constable threatened to confiscate the machine, Williams gave himself up. The numbers on the machine had been defaced with black paint. In Uniontown, Williams told the officers he and his wife argued because the woman had been too friendly with Lipscomb.

Lipscomb was also arrested by the county officers and an investigation made at Romeco. The locations of two stills were discovered and a further search revealed the apparatus had been hidden in a back yard. It was confiscated and will be held as evidence.

Auto Club to Outline New Traffic Laws

Following a meeting last night between city council and representatives of the Youghiogheny Automobile club, it was determined to allow the automobile organization to draw up a tentative ordinance for the regulation of traffic and to give it a try-out. If it proves better than the one now in force the council adopt it.

The meeting between council and the automobile club was held primarily for the purpose of discussing the ordinance. The present one is very much in disfavor with persons owning automobiles, all being unanimous in claiming it is unjust. The new rules will be submitted in about two weeks.

Harry Snyder Released.

Given a hearing before Alderman Fred Munk last night on a charge of larceny, Harry Snyder was released. He was arrested in Pittsburg last Friday by Constable B. Rottler. It was charged he purchased furniture worth $175 on the installment plan and that under cover of night removed it to Maryland where it was sold.

Advice For Women Who Suffer.
"I advise every woman who suffers with kidney trouble to try Foley Kidney Pills," says Mrs. Daglio Branner, 2622 Scoville Avenue, Cleveland, O. "I could not do my housework, but since taking Foley Kidney Pills I feel like a new woman and am able to do my work." Rheumatic pains, swollen ankles, backache, stiff joints, sore muscles and aches, disturbing bladder ailments indicate disordered kidneys. Foley Kidney Pills act promptly.—Advertisement.

THE SOISSON.

"THE OLD SWIMMIN' HOLE."—The feature picture today, presents Charles Ray in the stellar role. There is the miracle school, in which Charles and a host of boys and girls go through their humorous antics—which will recall the days of youth to everyone. Here, Mr. Ray enacted the charming scenes which typify the lives of the famed James Whitcomb Riley class. To get the right atmosphere it was necessary to call in some of the old timers around Hollywood. Monday and Tuesday Marguerite Clark will be seen in "Scrambled Wives."

THE PARAMOUNT.

"CROSSING TRAILS," featuring an all-star cast, is a powerful story of the ranches, and has as its central figure a girl who has been falsely accused of murder. Pete Morrison, as Jim Warren, owner of a large ranch, meets and falls in love with the girl and in situations teeming with thrills, rescues her from a gang of desperados and assists her in proving her innocence. Monday and Tuesday "A Wife's Awakening" will be shown.

THE ORPHEUM.

"RIDIN' ROMEO," a Tom Mix picture in which you will see thrilling Western stunts and have a good laugh, is the feature picture today. Mr. Mix wrote the story himself and has put into it a heap of things he saw and heard about when he was out on the plains as a cowboy. Monday and Tuesday Thomas Meighan will be presented in "The Frontier of the Stars."

THE ORPHEUM.

"THE FOUR HORSEMEN OF THE APOCALYPSE" will open Monday for a three-day attraction at this theatre. A special orchestra will play at all performances. But "The Four Horsemen" is not a war play, except as the war serves as a background for a story teeming with dramatic passion. Readers of the novel by the sensational Spaniard, Vicente Blasco Ibañez, from which the photo-drama was adapted, have reported surprised delight at the fidelity with which the scenarioist, June Mathis, has followed the story. Fifty principals and 2,500 extras were engaged in the filming of the photodrama, an entire French village and an elaborate chateau were erected to be destroyed under the artillery bombardment of the German invaders, and more than 125,000 tons of masonry, steel, lumber and furniture were used in creating backgrounds that are said to reproduce with absolute fidelity the shifting panorama of the story. The appeal of the story itself has already been proved through the success of the novel upon which the photodrama is founded. Its sale throughout the world runs into millions, but millions more will probably have it revealed to them for the first time through the medium of the screen production. This production is reported to have followed faithfully the epic tale of human passion against the background of the great war as related by Ibañez.

ELECTION JUDGE ILL

P. M. Bailey Located at Home of Son in Uniontown.

P. M. Bailey of Stewart township, a judge of election, who has been holding up the official count on the vote for the Soldiers' Memorial hall, has been located in Uniontown. South Greensburg Walks From Field and Tornado Eleven Wins By Forfeit

Coker: Had Already Scored One Touchdown When Dispute Arose.

H. S. PLAYS HERE TODAY

Refusing to abide by the decision of the officials in the game here yesterday afternoon, South Greensburg football team walked off the field and the Tornadoes won by a forfeit score of 1-0. Previous to that time the locals made a touchdown from a forward pass in the first quarter.

The dispute arose in the second period. The ball had changed hands a number of times when Greensburg intercepted a forward pass. McDonough, a fast man, made the catch and ran 10 yards across the goal line. Referee Herwick called a foul on LaPorte, the Tornado guard back. The score was not allowed and the visitors were penalized. This incensed the players and regardless of instructions from their manager to go on with the game the team left the field.

The Tornado management expressed regret at the action of the visitors. The game having been arranged with a feeling that South Greensburg was a sportsman. A great lack of such sentiment was displayed by the team however when their members refused to follow the ruling of the officials.

The thinkers for Connellsville and South Greensburg both agreed that the foul as did many others along the side lines. Under the rule which governs tripping the action of the Greensburg player was very evident.

A LaPorte started across the gridiron to cover the pass it was intercepted. He was the only man who had an opportunity to stop the passing.

McDonough, unable to stop LaPorte in any other way the Blue and White player put his leg in front of him, both men falling. This delay enabled the runner to cross the goal line. Herwick saw the foul and called the play before McDonough had fairly started on his run.

The Tornadoes outplayed the visitors from the beginning of the game. The locals took the ball on the kick-off on an inside kick and never lost it until a touchdown had been scored. The play was recovered in the middle of the field. Bufano immediately kicked off nine yards and then made it a first down with four and one half more. J. White got four and one half and Bufano made another first down with seven yards. J. White was stopped with a single yard gain and Bufano hit for five more. In this play, J. White was penalized for pushing with his hands while making interference. A forward from LaPorte to Stikley netted eight yards and another from LaPorte to Dunn netted three more. It was fourth down with a long, long way to go. Bufano went back in drop kick formation and the ball was passed. A forward pass, from LaPorte to J. White was completed and the player dodged his way to the goal line. The entire game nothing 20 yards. LaPorte kicked the goal.

With an end lying out on the first play following a kickoff South Greensburg got 20 yards the forward being from Pringle to Saville. Greensburg made a first down in three tries and then the ball changed hands several times.

In the second period the Cokers got right down to business and made two first downs in rapid succession. Then came the play which brought the battle to a close. LaPorte tossed the forward, a long pass to one side of the field, and was tripped by Saville. McDonough intercepted the pass and galloped 50 yards across the goal line.

The lineup—S. Greensburg—O. Dunn, L. E. Saville, Referee: Schradet, Bartley, L. G. Bridgman, Barrow, O. C. Frederick, Moore, R. G. Newhouse, Foster, T. J. Dunn, Smith, R. E. Callahan, LaPorte, Q. B. Pringle, Bufano, L. H. McDonough, J. White, R. H. C. Wise, C. White, F. B. P. Bone. Substitutions—Pittman for C. White, G. White for Pittman.

Touchdowns—J. White. Goal from Touchdown—LaPorte. Referee—Herwick. Umpire—Honsberger. Head Linesman—Schafer. Field Judge—Lunk.

It seems as though the Tornadoes cannot get a team in their own class for a game here. Had the contest lasted much longer yesterday Greensburg would have been swept from its feet. The eleven was tucked out when the argument arose over the referee's decision.

There is a difference of opinion as to what constitutes tripping. The rules say tripping is obstructing a player by the hand or arm, or with the leg that is below the knee. There is no tripping under the rules. The Greensburgers were not in a position to dive and he stuck out his leg, LaPorte falling over it.

The spectators were treated to a scene between the two Tornado outfields after the visitors departed.

Greensburg is the first team to declare it did not accept fair treatment on the local grounds. Plans here,

BARRY ELATED OVER DONNELLY-CARTER MATCH

Looks for It to Be Biggest Thing in Boxing Line in Local History.

BOTH POST FORFEITS

With the signing of Johnny Donnelly to the contract of Unionsville to meet Billy Carter the local boxing line in a 10-round bout about twice the Jockey Athletic club at Slavish hall Wednesday, November 10, one of the biggest boxing events ever arranged in this vicinity was brought to a firm issue through the efforts of Matchmaker Duke Barry.

Flight followers have been lining up to see these two boxers in a boxing encounter ever since their first meeting, but the line came to the conclusion that Donnelly would never consent to meet the heavy hitting local product in fact Johnny was quoted in a Pittsburg paper as saying he would not give Carter an opportunity to mingle with him. When Donnelly's telegram arrived stating the bout was on and the terms acceptable to him excitement prevailed in local sport circles. Donnelly's terms of a guarantee of $750 and two railway tickets from New York city and return is the highest price that the local organization has ever given to a box in performance in his city. In fact Johnny is receiving more money than many of the elite clubs in the country pay for a boxer's services.

Both boys have posted forfeits of $100 each to guarantee their appearance and to weigh in at 175 rounds at 3 o'clock on the day of the contest. Carter proved that he can readily make the required weight which is the same poundage he was called to do for Tommy Phillips when he defeated the McKeaney bout on last Monday night.

It is a foregone conclusion that the bout will put Slavish hall to its fullest capacity. Barry says. Already Tony Cuneo of the West Penn Billiard parlor who will handle the advance sale of tickets exclusively in this city is being besieged to sell reservations. I want to impress the public that those who intend to see this scrap should purchase their tickets as early as possible. First come first served will be the rule in disposing of the cardboard.

Herwick Regrets Action of South Greensburg Team

O. R. Herwick regrets the football game yesterday night at the Tornadoes and South Greensburg. He expressed regret at the action of the visitors in leaving the gridiron.

In 15 years of service as an official in football games it is the first time a team has ever left the field because of a penalty imposed by me," said Mr. Herwick.

While he regretted the forfeit he declared there was nothing to do but inflict the penalty. He called attention to the fact that four touchdowns have been called back on the Tornadoes this season and he should be sufficient proof that his reality yesterday was not jobbery as indicated by the visitors.

The GIRL HORSE AND A DOG

By FRANCIS LYND

COPYRIGHT BY CHARLES SCRIBNER'S SONS

During the night the scoundrels had laid a pipe line from the pump in the boiler shed alongside of our prison fortress; this with an upright extension on the business end of it. At the top of the handpipe stem there was an elbow with a short joint of pipe screwed into it to point our way; and at the end of this nozzle there was a piece of rubber hose. Under the jerky impulses of the pump strokes this flexible extension of the nozzle flopped up and down and around and side-wise, like the nose of a patent lawn sprinkler; and there you are—or there we were.

"Gosh-to-Solemon!" Daddy spluttered, "we ain't on the water wagon—we're spunk inside of it! Are you rememberin', Stannie, that they can keep this gosh-darn thing up forever? All right, world they've got to do is to put a stick of wood on the fire now and then! Say, son; they got us koin' and koin'; we can't eat, and we can't sleep no more whatever!"

"By heavens, I own those boilers and I could get a stick of dynamite under 'em, I'd fix the fellow that's firing 'em!" I shivered; and then the bright idea was born. "Say, Daddy, we can stop it!" I yelled; and just then the water devil outside made another scolding, top and got me squally in the face.

But it didn't drown the bright idea.

CHAPTER XV. High Explosives.

The idea was one which ought to have suggested itself much sooner. The steam supply pipe for driving the big centrifugals at the shaft-house came through the wall over our heads, and it was the sight of this pipe, streaming even on the outside of its thick insulating jacket of asbestos under the wetting from the water jet, that had set me thinking.

A splashing swirl of the engine throttle valve set our machinery in motion, and when I had thrown the pump clutch in, we crouched again in the lease-wet corner to watch the index of the tell-tale steamgauge connected into the supply pipe.

We knew that the centrifugals were voracious steam eaters; we had proved that when we were running them in the week-long test. I had a notion that maybe Bullerton had fired only one of the battery of three boilers to run his shower-bath machine, and the result speedily confirmed this assumption. In a few minutes the steam pressure had dropped to a point at which it would no longer drive any of the pumps, either ours or the one outside, and the window-contrast stopped.

"This will be only a breathing space," I prophesied, getting up to someone some of the superheated water out of my clothes. "Bullerton will do one of two things: fire the other two boilers, or disconnect this steam pipe of ours."

"Reckon so?" said Daddy.

"You'll see in a minute or so." The attack began even while we were speaking, sundry hammerings and twistings that shook the pipe overhead proving that the besiegers were going to stop the leak by cutting us off from the boilers.

"Take your whiffl at the inventions, this time, Daddy!" I urged. "When they get this supply pipe cut out, we'll be in for another ducking—and one that we can't stop."

Daddy was shaking his head and wringing the moisture—and mud—out of his beard.

"Gosh-to-Solemon, Stannie, we got to take a chance!" he muttered. "Any ways, I'd about as lief die as be drowned to death. We'll have to mosey that blacksmith shop, and get it out of the way, somehow. Gimmie a match out of that tin box o' yours—if they ain't all soaked to a Jiz-whizzin' sop." I found the matches, which, luckily, were still dry, and handed him one. Before I fairly realized what he was going to do, he had taken one of the dynamite cartridges out of its bucket hiding place and was splitting the fuse with his pocketknife.

"Open that there door into the shop!" he commanded; and when I obeyed mechanically, out went the bomb, dz-ang and sputtering, to land in a heap of scrap iron piled on the farther side of the stone-built forge. The sight of it smoking and spitting sparks in the heap of scrap had hypnotized me. I guess, for I stood gaping at it, with the door held open, until Daddy Hiram jerked me away, slammed the door and railed to me to help him bar it.

We had barely time to get the door closed and fastened with the heavy wooden bar and to throw ourselves flat on the floor behind the hoisting machinery before the crash came. As I have previously said, the blacksmith shop was a rather flimsy, shed-like affair, roofed with corrugated iron, and it seemed to us as if broken timbers and pieces of sheet metal were raining down for a full minute after the blast went off.

The shock to everything in the vicinity was, of course, tremendous, and the stout old shaft-house itself rocked and swayed like a tree in a hurricane.

But the walls still stood intact, and when we got up and peeped through a hole, which a piece of the flying scrap had torn in the door, we could see what we had done. It was a plenty.

The blacksmith shop had disappeared, leaving nothing but a scattering of wreckage. The heavy mill had been thrown from its block and the forge looked as if a giant had kicked it. Out by the boiler-shed a rack of cordwood had been toppled over and unless it a man was struggling to free himself. When he saw the line of an enemy that mild-mannered, soft-spoken old soldier that I was shut up with would have opened the door and shot the struggler if I hadn't stopped him.

This blowing up of the shop settled the showenbut business for us definitely. With the impediment out of the way we had a clear view on this third side; could command the row of miners' cabins as well as the boilers in their open shed. When I got through persuading Daddy Hiram that we couldn't afford to murder the wounded, the fellow who had been wrestling with the woodpile had made his exit and there was nobody in sight. Shortly afterward a bullet, fired from somewhere in the forest background, whanged upon our roof, and there were several to follow; but aside from punching a few more holes in the iron they did no harm.

"Looks like the Hercules is the one thing they're most sketched of," said Daddy, with his queer little strutting chuckle. "Now maybe they'll leave us have time to get ourselves dried out a mite."

Torturing up the results of the shower-bath we'd had, a bread famine (promised to be the worst of them), the few cans of beans, comeston and peaches—the campers' standby—were un-aunt of course, and the muddled bacon could be washed with water drawn from the flooded shaft. But the flour in its sack was merely a blob of paste and was beyond redemption and the cornmeal was the same in view of the results I wondered, if Bullerton hadn't shrewdly calculated upon washing our commissary out of existence when he planned his overgrown lawn-sprinkler. But maybe that was giving him credit for more sagacity than he really had.

Through what remained of the afternoon the rifle firing continued, coming sometimes from one angle and sometimes from another, but always cannily under cover of the surrounding forest. Daddy Hiram grinsly optimistic, extracted a swallow or so of encouragement out of the persistent pot-shooting.

"Dunno as you've ever noticed it, Stannie, but if you'll only let a hog alone long enough he'll shove himself under the hog-wire fence far enough to get caught," he said. "Charley Bullerton, now; he's plumb forgot that 'Troopia's' law 'n five miles away and that sound carries mighty long distances in these mountains in clear weather."

"What difference does that make?" I asked.

"It may make a heap o' difference. Looks to me like somebody—Daddy Hiram, 'n Jim Haggerty, the section boss, 'n some of 'em down yonder 'd begin a wonderin' after a spell, what 'n turnation all this here blazin' and rifle-poppin' up on old Cinnabar is a p'intin' at and come and see."

"Do you think the racket will carry that far?"

"It sure will. One night afore 'Troopia had gone as dead as she is now, a bunch o' cowpunchers got into an argument at Blue-nose Bill's place and we heard the crackin' and poppin' up here—Joanna and me—like it was just over yonder in Cresser gulch."

"Well?" said I, "if your nephew or any of the others hear it 'what then?"

As I asked the question one of the low-voiced shots tore through the side of the building, struck the iron frame of the hoist, flattened itself and dropped into the old man's lap. Picking up the hot bit of lead to dandle it from hand to hand he dwined on much as if picking up bullets that were fired at him had been his daily recreation.

"Curiosity killed the cat, Stannie, son. You let some one of the folks down yonder in 'Troopia say, 'By gosh, I wonder what all that shootin's for?' and the next thing you know, somebody'll be muggin' up here to find out."

Along about dusk some member of the besieging party tried to make a reconnaissance. It happened to be keeping the lookout on the cabin side of our fortress and saw a man dodging among the pine boughs of the house. When I reported to Daddy he took a snap shot

Declares Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to Be the Best Medicine for Girls and Women

Hamilton, Ohio.—"I had such awful pains in my back I could hardly stand on my feet and I was never without a headache. If I walked up town I thought I would drop and many a time I felt so bad I had to go to bed and I was not able to do much of my housework. I would have hemorrhages every two weeks and dragging been feeling badly for three years and had two of the best doctors in the city, but I kept getting worse and only weighed 125 pounds. I saw your advertisement and I took eight boxes of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Now I weigh 185 pounds and feel fine. Everybody tells me how well I look and asks me what I took and I always say, 'Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, the best medicine in the world for any sickness to which girls and women are subject.' I will always have a good word to say for you, and you may use my name whenever you wish."

at the place I pointed out to him and there was a wild yell and a still in the young places as though a log were galloping through them.

"Just to let 'em know that we're still alive and kickin'!" said the old man, with another of his quavering chuckles. "I reckon maybe that's what they was aimin' to find out."

Possibly it was. At all events, the rifle fire stopped with the coming of darkness, and as we faced our second night of defense we had plenty of time to sit around and think and speculate upon what the outcome was going to be.

Taking it all in all it was the fantastic humor of the thing that hit me hardest. Six short weeks earlier people at home had been calling me all the hard names that fall to the lot of the idle ne'er-do-well; a young chap with enough theatricals in money to keep him in ties and shoes and a shirt and to buy gas for his car—though that last asked for a good bit on the rising cost of gasoline—and not enough to make life, or anything connected therewith, very much worth a hie.

Riches waiting for lost girl

Palatial Home, Land and Fortune for Child of Romance Who is Being Searched for.

New York.—Somewhere in the United States is a seventeen-year-old girl, a Spanish-American child of romance and adventure, for whom a large fortune is waiting.

Back in Spain an aristocratic old Castilian grandfater is trotting away his last years for her, and here in America, three wealthy uncles are seeking her to tell her that a fourth uncle has died and left her a great estate.

Eileen Owen, the missing heiress, is the daughter of the late Warren D. Owen, a Roosevelt Rough Rider, who won the daughter of Don Esteban Garcia in Cuba in the Spanish-American war. Rough Rider Owen fought a duel for the hand of Elenora Garcia with her proud old father. It is stated by the girl was sent to a home in Chicago because of her wild escapades. She escaped through a window one night and has never been heard of since. It is believed that she has changed her name from Owen to Gordon.

If the much-sought girl can be located, she will have a palatial house, six acres of land and many thousands of dollars.

Put Baby in Mail Box, Trenton, N. J.—A baby boy was found here in a mail box with a bottle of milk for nourishment. The chance was a farmer. The mail box was near the place where a mother recently deserted a baby girl.

Scotch Terrier With Nose for Hootch Helps Enforcement Agents Uncover Still

New York.—If one is thirsty and desires to buy a drink for a truckman's disguise, put the feed box on the family place in front of a wet spot, water in and the bartender will immediately become "reasonable."

That theory became a fact when "Izzy" Blustein, federal rum sleuth, accompanied by Miss Smith, Peter Rengar and a Scotch terrier, drove up in a truck in front of the Louis Rones stable, 72 West Ninth street, Brooklyn. Years ago Blustein was a bartender and later a chauffeur in the Delancy street neighborhood.

"Rones, my name is Julietta. Should you have a drink, sir?" the unkempt driver suggested to the stable owner.

"Sure I thought you were the junk man," said Rones.

Dog Gets Busy.

The Scotch terrier then ran into a stall, ate the "rum" and Rones following. The dog whined, as if begging for food. Behind the stall was found a cave twenty feet long, in which was a large still and twenty gallons of some kind of strong smelling liquor. During the removal of the still and moonshine a large crowd gathered.

"Good for you, Izzy; it was bad hooch, anyway," somebody shouted. The raid was made by order of Federal District Attorney LeRoy W. Ross, who had received an anonymous communication that the premises were being used in which to sell liquor. The letter complained that women as well as men were being poisoned by obtaining moonshine in the stable. Rones was arrested.

The truck then stopped in front of the saloon of John Sullivan, 570 South street. The feed bags were again put on the horses, the three "truckmen" entering the place, where it is alleged Sullivan served them three drinks of whiskey at 50 cents each. A quantity of whiskey was found concealed in a safe in the rear room.

Mrs. Bertha Weiler of 428 East Seventy-ninth street was held in $1,000 bail by Magistrate William A. Sweetser in the Yorkville court on the charge of owning a large still and peddling whiskey in a baby carriage.

"One day I grabbed her, and it sure did make her mad," he testified in Circuit court when his complaint was heard.

"When I returned that night she was gone. She did not want me to make love to her," he said. His wife was living in Dayton, Ohio, now. Circuit Judge Bond granted a divorce decree.

of the Audit Bureau of Circulations in 1914, each publisher made his own circulation statements to advertisers.

Many of them were truthful. Some were not.

But there was confusion and lack of uniformity. An intelligent comparison was impossible. Details regarding distribution were not generally given because there was no standard of practice in keeping the records.

The Audit Bureau of Circulations has brought order out of chaos. Today the Bureau's system of keeping records is almost universal among the better publishers. Uniform reports are furnished to advertisers by that absolutely independent organization.

The experienced advertiser demands A. B. C. reports and if the publisher has nothing to hide, he gets them.

A. B. C. reports in The Daily Courier are furnished on request.

A New Delivery Schedule

IN anticipation of the usual Christmas rush Wright-Metzler Store puts into operation Monday the following system of deliveries.

It has been carefully planned to secure the greatest good of the greatest number of our patrons, and, on that account, will be strictly adhered to both in the Main Store and the Market.

Any order that is to be sent out on a given delivery must be received by us at least one half hour before that delivery is scheduled to start.

We ask your co-operation in this venture in order that the new system may provide you with the more perfect sort of service it has always been Wright-Metzler Store's high aim to give.

GRIFFITH EVANS BEATEN IN STORE BY NEGRO THUGS

News of Injury Received by J. J. Evans, Brother, South Connellsville.

SEVERE CUTS ON HEAD

Screams of Wife, Who Is Covered by Revolver, Bridges Neighbor and the Would-Be Robbers Make Hasty Exit Without Getting Anything; Notes.

Special to The Courier.

SOUTH CONNELLSVILLE, Nov. 19.—J. J. Evans received news Wednesday from Farrell that his brother, Griffith, is suffering from two gunshot wounds in his head as the result of an attempt to rob his grocery store Monday evening by two negroes. The blows were intended to kill Evans, according to a statement by the physician who dressed his wounds. Mr. Evans is 70 years of age.

Herbert Bowen, grandson of Mr. Evans, was attracted by Mrs. Evans' screams and as he entered the rear door the robbers went out the front way. Bowen gave chase but soon lost track of them. The negroes entered the store about 7 o'clock, bought some candy and, as Mr. Evans passed the candy to them, one of the negroes seized him and struck him with a black-jack. The other one covering Mrs. Evans with a gun. She was in the kitchen doorway at the time.

Minister Speaks to Students. Rev. C. E. Miller, pastor of the Evangelical church, visited the Gibson high school during chapel exercises Friday morning and gave a very interesting talk to the students on "Work."

Re-Roofing Borough Building. The borough council is having a new layer of roofing paper put on the town hall.

Personal News.

John Harbaugh, assistant county superintendent of schools, visited the Gibson high school yesterday morning.

Charles Bottomly, who went to Chicago last Sunday to have his injured foot examined, returned home yesterday. The doctors advised him that they were unable to do anything for the injured member.

Mrs. George Hines, who has been visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Grant Shoemaker of Gibson avenue and Mr. and Mrs. George Brown of Pittsburg street, returned to her home at Garrett Wednesday.

Ross Palmer returned yesterday morning from Garrett where he had been visiting his parents.

SHARK KILLED BY PROPELLER

Owner Could Not Guess Cause of It Because Vessel Was in Clear Channel.

Norfolk, Va.—Henry Owens had the scare of his life when he was making his way into Horn harbor, in Mathews county, a few days ago, in his motorboat.

His boat was speeding along at about 14 knots when it struck some obstacle that shook the craft from stem to stern. The boat was in deep water and a clear channel. Owens could not account for the collision with the submerged object.

The boat's engine went dead after the collision, and Owens went to the stern of his boat to see what the trouble was. He found the fast revolving propeller of the boat had killed a shark. There was blood all over the surface of the water.

The shark measured nine feet. Its body was cut in several places when it came to the surface after its contact with the propeller.

Batted Ball Killed Boy Pitcher. Baltimore, Md.—While pitching in a baseball game on the grounds of the State Normal school, Andrew Enser, fourteen years old, was killed. He threw a ball to Edward Lightcap, fourteen, who was batting. Lightcap hit the ball which struck Enser behind the right ear, causing concussion of the brain.

Divorced 30 Years, They Have Knot Tied Again

Walden Altwood of Oregon, 33, seventy-five years old, and Lydia Altwood, sixty-nine, his former wife, from whom he was divorced 30 years ago, were recently remarried at Dixon, Ill. Altwood, in his marriage license, gave his business as a butcher and fisherman.

A Thanksgiving Story

A BOVE you see pictured Mrs. John Jones, as free from care and perfectly sure of the Thanksgiving details, she surveys her daintily prepared table before the arrival of her guests.

The story of how the table (and Mrs. Jones) came to look so inviting is an interesting one—as is the part that Wright-Metzler Store has to play in it.

You see the rosette in her hair?—how it vividly sets off her face and her costume? It's an artificial American beauty bought here on the main floor for just 50c.

Her necklace?—a graduated strand of pearl beads, lustrous and moon-like that was Special on the Main Floor for only $4.

Her new dress—(that was her greatest achievement) was managed by taking advantage of the Thanksgiving Sale of dresses which is still in progress and cost exactly $25. She chose Canton Crepe but she might have had Poirer Twill, Tricotine, Serge or Satin.

As for the table—the cloth that stands before her so cool and inviting is all linen damask, measures 67x68, and was surely a bargain, special in the Thanksgiving Linen Sale at $5.00.

The dinnerware is a daintily decorated 42-piece set found in The Store Downstairs for $13.

The candlesticks were also bought downstairs for $1.00 a pair.

The goblets (etched or cut as she preferred) cost $6.50 per dozen.

The comfort and center bowl were discovered among other cut glass ranging $7 to $13 in price.

The fruit that gives such an enviable touch of color to the whole ensemble is artificial (though you'd scarcely suspect it) and cost 65c to $1.25 according to its variety.

Last but not least is our friend Mr. Turkey, who was bought in the Market and later on roasted in a REED Roaster, sized to accommodate that particular turkey and priced $4 to $7.

Of course there is no real Mrs. Jones. But the story is told merely to give you an idea of how this store is prepared, with every detail, to assure for us all a merry and happy (and thrifty!) Thanksgiving.

Two fisted overcoats for two fisted men must be big, well lined, roomy and comfortable.

They must stand a lot of wear and tear and still be stylish.

We nominate Society Brand, Hirsch Wickwire and Michael Stern overcoats for the position.

They fill the bill in a two fisted way and have been very materially reduced in price.

A Sale of Corsets! $1.25—$2.00

CORSETS good enough to bear the name "Wright-Metzler Special"—made of a good quality cloth, boned with good boning and impervious to rust.

The price is due to an advantageous purchase in a falling market. Our saving is passed right on to you.

The sizes are 20 to 30 and an expert corsetiere is ready to help you choose an appropriate model.

They are really such splendid values that we advise an early selection. —Second Floor.

Outing Gowns mean Comfort $1.39—$2.95

THE prices are special as one glance at the gowns will readily prove.

They are made of the highest quality outing flannel, white and stripe patterns—and how they do keep you warm on a cold winter night!
